Claim 1

Examiner requests the Applicants to show support for the following limitation "there may be a different predetermined set of commands for each interface emulator". Applicants have rewritten Claim 1 [now incorporated into Claim 2] to more accurately define the invention.

The intent of the phrase "there may be a different predetermined set of commands for each interface emulator" was that commands received from different hosts are treated differently. Applicants submit that the Claim as rewritten more accurately defines the invention without adding any new matter.

Support for changes are to be found in the Abstract "Our current invention... by selectively blocking only specified host computers." Further support can be found in the specification, including paragraph [0027] The blocking device blocks certain commands, depending upon which host computer system the command is issued from..."

In view of the foregoing remarks, Applicants request the Examiner's reconsideration and reexamination of the application, and the timely allowance of the pending claims.

Respectfully submitted,

All Applicants:
